Title of the paper

Your University ID number

Abstract

This is the abstract. Best if it's not too long, and there shouldn't be any paragraph breaks. However, it should not be that short ;-)

1 Introduction

We start by introducing EM...

And continue by breaking up our sections under sub-headings. We can refer to papers parenthetically (J., 2005), or by direct reference to the work, as in the next sentence.

J. (2005) present some ideas[1].

1.1 A Subsection heading

The sub-headings themselves can be distributed under sub-sub-headings.

1.1.1 And one subsubsection heading

This would be a figure if I had anything interesting to put here.

Figure 1: An example figure

1.1.2 Followed by another sub-heading

Table 1: This is an example table

Again, I don't really have anything to put in here.

[1] And this is what a footnote looks like

Acknowledgements

Some people are just so wonderful. I would like to thank my cat.

References

Fry. Phillip J. Empirical modelling. Journal of the Future, 3000(1):1–42, 2005.